 ANNUAL REPORT

A collection of various toy cars and trucks, including a yellow sports car, a white truck, a blue car, and a red car, arranged on a wooden surface.

President's Message

Dear Friends,

Involvement is growing. Number of accounts, total grants, and average grant size get bigger each year. To me, this says that the PAA Foundation is becoming increasingly important to Pennsylvania's new car and truck dealers, and those affiliated with the industry.

In 2014, over $2.2 million was granted to charitable organizations by PAAF account holders. This is almost $1 million more than was granted in 2013.

A resource to maximize your charitable giving, the PAAF is the only foundation to offer incentive money. If you haven't explored its many benefits, I encourage you to make this the year you do.

Most importantly, the PAA Foundation encourages and recognizes the generosity of new car and truck dealers in Pennsylvania and provides opportunities for dealers to give back to the communities that supported them through the years.

Chairman's Message

Dear Friends,

It is my pleasure to offer you the 2014 PAA Foundation Annual Report. Contained within is not only information on the many worthwhile organizations receiving donations from account holders, but also stories explaining the reasons behind those gifts. We hope that as you read this report you are inspired to find the causes and organizations that matter most to you.

The PAA Foundation is a valuable and flexible resource which can be used to administer your charitable giving. Those with charitable intent are encouraged to take advantage of establishing a PAAF Donor Advised Account. A philanthropic tool, PAAF makes it easy to support the charities that matter most to you.

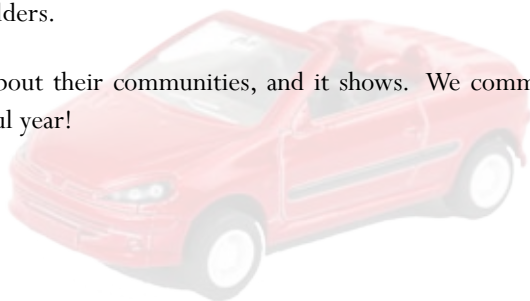

If you would like to contribute but do not want to take part in one of the established Giving Recognition Levels, a donation in any amount can always be made to the PAA Scholarship Fund.

As you will see, 2014 was a very productive year for the PAA Foundation. The Foundation once again experienced tremendous growth and welcomed many new account holders. Over $2.2 million was granted to various charitable organizations by PAAF Donor Advised and Benefactor Club account holders.

Pennsylvania dealers care about their communities, and it shows. We commend the good work you are doing and look forward to another successful year!

Variety the Children's Charity

Greater Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers Association Foundation

Going outside to ride a bike is a part of life for kids, a milestone to freedom and independence, and a way to have fun. Riding a bike, however, was not possible for many children with disabilities in the Pittsburgh area so Charlie LaVallee of Variety the Children's Charity started the 'My Bike' program about two years ago to provide bikes that have been specifically adapted to fit the disabled child's unique needs. "You do it because you want to provide kids with an opportunity to have this freedom and to ride with their siblings," LaVallee said. "We are a testimony to Western Pennsylvania. We hear about a need and we respond to our kids." The group has donated more than a million dollars worth of bikes - 700 individually customized adaptive bikes - since November 2012. In 2014, Variety the Children's Charity was among the many organizations receiving donations from the Greater Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers Association Foundation.

Kyle's Quillows

Suzi and Scott Lustgarten Family Foundation

Kyle could tolerate the hospital, what he couldn't tolerate was hearing the little girl next to him get sicker. Kyle was 11 - she was only 3. It didn't seem fair. After a particularly bad night, he called the one person he thought could make the little girl feel better - his grandmother. Kyle's grandmother ran to her sewing machine and crafted a perfectly pink blanket for the girl. The next day, Kyle sent the blanket, and the nurse who delivered it returned hours later to say that the little girl hadn't let go of the blanket since receiving it. An idea was born.

After Kyle received a bone marrow transplant at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP), he recovered from his illness. Now, Kyle runs cross country and track, plays in the marching and jazz band, and attends school. Kyle and his family also now spend their time sewing and delivering quillows - a quilted fleece blanket that easily folds into a pillow - to the kids at CHOP. The quillows are small enough to pack in a bag, easy to wash every day, and super soft for sensitive skin. They work well for long hospital stays, traveling for check ups, and resting pretty much anywhere while receiving treatments. In 2014, the Suzi and Scott Lustgarten Family Foundation, a frequent philanthropist in the area of children's medicine, made generous donations to Kyle's Quillows, to the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, and to the University of Pennsylvania Hospital.

Operation Warm

Automobile Dealers Association of Greater Philadelphia

CARing for Kids Foundation

In 2014, the Auto Dealers CARing for Kids Foundation distributed more than 37,000 new winter coats to underprivileged children living in the five-county region of Philadelphia through its Driving Away the Cold program. To begin the month-long distribution activities, the Foundation donated approximately 6,000 new coats to elementary school students in the School District of Philadelphia at an event at the Pennsylvania Convention Center. The coats are raised through a special month-long program where participating franchised dealers pledge a brand-new winter coat each time a vehicle is sold at their dealerships. Approximately 172 dealerships participated in this year's Driving Away the Cold program. The CARing for Kids Foundation also gave generously to communities in their area, supporting the YMCAs of the Philadelphia region.

Steve Kelly, Kelly Chevrolet (left) and Scott Lustgarten, Principal at Martin Main Line Honda, assist with distributing more than 6,000 coats at the school district of Philadelphia event.

Brittany's Hope

Vicki and Bob Dolan Foundation

Brittany's Hope Foundation was created in January 2000 for the purpose of advocating for orphaned special needs children who are longing for the love of a family. The foundation was inspired by Brittany, who was adopted when she was 12 years old. While Brittany was home for Christmas break in January 1999, during her senior year in college, her life was tragically cut short as a result of a car accident. She was pursuing a career in social work and hoped to help waiting children find loving families. She stated she "dreamed of a world where all children know the peace and love only a family can provide."

The United Nations Children Fund's (UNICEF) latest figures estimate that more than 153 million children languish in institutions and orphanages around the world; typically in countries which are under-developed and plagued by poverty, social restrictions, and war. Brittany's Hope raises funds and works with adoption agencies to lower the cost of adopting special needs children. Once a child is labeled, regardless of the reasons why, it becomes much harder for agencies to find families who are interested in choosing a child with "special needs" over a healthy child. In 2014, the Vicki and Bob Dolan Foundation generously donated to Brittany's Hope.

Einstein Healthcare Network

Wynn Family Foundation

Einstein Medical Center Montgomery in East Norriton

In 2014, Einstein Healthcare Network received a grant from the Wynn Family Foundation. Einstein Healthcare Network is a leading healthcare system and the region's largest independent academic medical center, offering a full spectrum of services throughout Philadelphia and Montgomery Counties. With nearly 150 years of service to the community, Einstein has a wealth of experience, blending a long and distinguished history with high-quality, cutting-edge medicine. In fact, 35 Einstein doctors were recognized in 2014 as Top Doctors by Philadelphia magazine.

Pictured at left is Einstein Medical Center Montgomery which opened in 2012. Einstein Medical Center Montgomery offers private rooms that feature sleeper sofas, natural light and room service. Studies show private rooms can result in better outcomes. Located on 87 acres along Germantown Pike in East Norriton, Einstein Medical Center Montgomery brings the exceptional experience of Einstein Healthcare Network to residents of central Montgomery County.

VisionCorps

Steve and Donna Jones Foundation

Mike always handled life's problems and worked hard. But when glaucoma took his sight, he was filled with fear. "All I kept thinking was, what am I to do? What about my family?" Mike knew he had to learn how to function without his eyes to guide him. He turned to VisionCorps - and found the help he needed.

For more than 85 years, VisionCorps has been helping restore autonomy and independence to the lives of Pennsylvania residents who are blind or vision impaired. From education and prevention, to rehabilitation and employment, VisionCorps takes a comprehensive approach to services. These services are made possible through revenue from VisionCorps's Industrial Division and support from individuals and businesses in the communities they serve. In addition, VisionCorps provides its partners with access to federal contracting opportunities and purchase dollars through the AbilityOne Program, the largest source of employment for people who are blind. In 2014, VisionCorps received a generous grant from the Steve and Donna Jones Foundation.

Pennsylvania Breast Cancer Coalition

Earle M. Mitchell Memorial Fund

Each day, 32 women in Pennsylvania are diagnosed with breast cancer and over 2,000 die every year from the devastating disease. The PA Breast Cancer Coalition (PBCC) was formed in 1993 by a dedicated, active, and effective group of breast cancer survivors to find a cure for breast cancer. Through PBCC funded research, Dr. Craig Meyers and his team at Penn State College of Medicine discovered that adeno-associated virus type 2 kills breast cancer cells in every stage in the laboratory in tissue culture dishes. The PBCC feels this important research must continue. In addition to funding research, the PBCC offers free “Friends Like Me” care packages to newly diagnosed women in Pennsylvania. The package contains educational resources as well as some soft touches like a pink ribbon pin and donated gifts.

Johns Hopkins Medicine

Robert P. Kelly Family Foundation

Toward the end of the 19th century, American medical education was in chaos; most medical schools were little more than trade schools. Often, it was easier to gain admission to one of these than to a liberal arts college. With the opening of The Johns Hopkins Hospital in 1889, followed four years later by The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Johns Hopkins ushered in a new era marked by rigid entrance requirements for medical students, a vastly upgraded medical school curriculum with emphasis on the scientific method, the incorporation of bedside teaching and laboratory research as part of the instruction, and integration of the School of Medicine with the Hospital through joint appointments. Hopkins medicine counts many “firsts” among its achievements during its early years: the first major medical school in the United States to admit women; the first to use rubber gloves during surgery; the first to develop renal dialysis and CPR. Today, Johns Hopkins is a $7 billion integrated global health enterprise and one of the leading health care systems in the United States. In 2014, the Robert P. Kelly Family Foundation made a generous grant to Johns Hopkins Medicine, in addition to showing great support to several worthy organizations in the Greater Lehigh Valley.

Franklin Regional Senior High School

Rob and Christina Cochran Family Foundation

In the aftermath of the April 9, 2014, stabbing at Franklin Regional Senior High School, in which 20 students and a security guard were injured, the school implemented a new rule prohibiting students from carrying backpacks throughout the day, unless those bags are clear. In response, #1 Cochran purchased 1,500 clear backpacks, enough for all of the 1,396 students at the Senior High School.

Dirk Harper, #1 Cochran Team Member and parent of a Franklin Regional High School student, said "It's a small step in rebuilding the feeling of security at the school, but as a parent, I think the backpacks will help give the students, faculty and parents alike, some peace of mind".

The backpacks feature the slogan "FR Strong". "An incident like this is devastating, especially when it happens in our own backyard. It's important to let the school district know that they have the support of their community. It's our responsibility to do what we can so the victims and their families can focus on their recovery," said Rob Cochran, president and CEO of #1 Cochran. The Rob and Christina Cochran Family Foundation showed immense support in the area of education in 2014. In addition to the backpacks and a donation to Franklin Regional Senior High School, they continued their generous support of Carnegie Mellon University.

The Hillside School

Landis Family Charity Foundation

Pictured to the right, is Reed (grandson to Cletus and Carol Landis of Star Buick GMC) at The Hillside School, with Havana, a puppy being raised for Canines Companions for Independence. The Hillside School is the leading independent day school in the Lehigh Valley that is dedicated to educating children who have been diagnosed with dyslexia or other language-based learning disabilities. In 2014, The Hillside School raised $20,000 for Canines Companions. The Landis Family Charity Foundation is matching their efforts 2 to 1 and Paying it Forward to Canines (Total $40,000). In 2014, the Landis Family Charity Foundation also donated generously to The Hillside School, Landmark College, and Wreaths Across America.

Butler County Community College

Robert and Gail Hunter Foundation

Recently, the Butler County Community College Foundation Board began a comprehensive campaign - the Pioneer Proud Campaign - to increase private support for the college's initiatives.

Co-chaired by Robert L. Hunter and Nancy Hunter Mycka, the campaign has three key initiatives:

- Transforming the Beck Library into a Learning Commons,
- Sustaining student access and success, and
- Supporting economic development.

“As the cost of higher education continues to increase, community colleges offer students and parents an affordable and quality bridge for the first two years of college,” said Robert Hunter. For 50 years, Butler County Community College has been “The Smart Place to Start” for more than 100,000 students.

Butler County Community College offers 63 associate degree, career, and transfer programs. Now more than ever, students are taking advantage of obtaining an Associate degree before entering the workforce or moving to a four-year college or university.

St. John Neumann Regional Academy

William P. and Lorraine Manos Foundation

In 2014, St. John Neumann Regional Academy received a grant from the William P. and Lorraine Manos Foundation. Catholic education in Lycoming County has thrived and flourished for more than 130 years, enlightening thousands of students with the gift of an academically and spiritually challenging education. St. John Neumann Regional Academy was founded in the life and teachings of Jesus Christ and educates the hearts and minds of students, Pre-K through 12th Grade. St. John Neumann Regional Academy provides a Catholic, faith-centered community dedicated to academic excellence, fostering personal and spiritual growth, the promotion of a life of faith, and the development of leadership expressed in service to others. This is accomplished in partnership with the student's family, parish and community.

Laurel House

Three Angels Foundation

"Just a quick note to say 'thank you' so much for your help. A year ago this week I moved out of my house. It was then that I was just learning and wrapping my head around the realization that what I had been living with was abuse and that it was not my fault! Wow, what a year! I'm so grateful and hopeful. I don't want to live like that ever again!! Thank you for helping me with the support and the healing!" Laurel House is a comprehensive domestic violence agency, serving all of Montgomery County. Laurel House's shelter has long been known as a safe place to heal. However, over the past 33 years, their programs have expanded to include many other needed services and support resources. Today, in addition to a 24-hour hotline and shelter, Laurel House offers transitional housing, medical advocacy, legal advocacy, community counseling and support groups, children's programs, law enforcement collaboration, and expanded community education and prevention efforts. In 2014, Laurel House was the recipient of a grant from the Three Angels Foundation.

Dr. Gertrude A. Barber Foundation

Larry and Gloria New Foundation

Prior to 1952, community-based services for individuals with disabilities were virtually non-existent in Erie, Pennsylvania. Dr. Gertrude A. Barber, an administrator in the city's school district, answered the calling. She saw a need for a more integrated approach to providing individualized care for those with special needs. These are children such as Destiny and Danny, deaf twins who found new ways to communicate in the hearing impaired classroom at the Barber National Institute. Adults like Ashley who, after months of working on job skills and practicing for interviews, got a job on the housekeeping crew for the Erie Insurance Arena. Ashley was one of 26 adults placed in jobs in the community during 2014 with help from the Supported Employment Program at the Barber National Institute. In 2014, Dr. Gertrude A. Barber Foundation received a grant from the Larry and Gloria New Foundation.

Via of the Lehigh Valley

Greater Lehigh Valley Automobile Dealers Association Foundation

Via of the Lehigh Valley is a non-profit agency that provides services for children and adults with disabilities like autism, cerebral palsy and Down syndrome. Young adults like Tyler can attend Via's Teen Summer Experience. As challenged children get older, there are fewer opportunities and services available to address their needs. For adults, Via's employment services are based on the belief that everybody works and no one should be excluded. It is their belief that, as a typical part of adult life, work is essential to the human experience, and everyone should have the opportunity to benefit from being a part of the employed community.

Dress for Success

Lydia M. Oyler Memorial Foundation

Nothing is better than getting that follow up phone call from a woman saying “ I got the job!” Dress for Success supports women with clothing and confidence to get through the first few weeks of employment with the right look. Their Professional Women’s Group, PWG, provides a job retention component for employed clients through a program that addresses their social and economic needs in relation to work, home, and community.

Members attend monthly seminars on a variety of career development topics. Each meeting consists of two key elements: an expert speaker leading an informational discussion and a networking period. Speaker topics include financial planning, time management, the unwritten rules of the workplace and professional communication. Membership in the PWG is lifelong. Members receive essential resources, discounts on various products and services, and of course additional clothing to complete a working wardrobe. In 2014, Dress for Success South Central Pennsylvania received a generous donation from the Lydia M. Oyler Memorial Foundation.

New Castle YMCA

Robert III and Joanne Preston Family Foundation

Recognizing the importance of giving back to the community that has supported him, Bob and his wife Joanne Preston have become two of New Castle’s most visible benefactors. Bob chaired the capital campaign that raised $3.7 million to build the Preston Chambers YMCA ‘Y-Zone’, and Bob and Joanne personally gave $600,000 to the project. In 2014, through the newly established Robert III and Joanne Preston Family Foundation, additional donations to the New Castle YMCA were provided.

Since 1865, the New Castle Community YMCA has been responding to the community’s social and physical needs. One need in particular is to provide a safe, healthy environment for “everyone to learn, grow and thrive” at a fair price. The ‘Y-Zone’ offers a wide range of programs and leagues from indoor soccer to youth lacrosse. The facilities include two regulation basketball courts, an indoor turf field, wellness center, a batting cage, and a café style lobby with complimentary wi-fi. The wellness center is a full exercise facility with treadmills, elliptical trainers, exercise bikes, cross training machines, and a free-weight area. The ‘Y-Zone’ is also host to one of Lawrence County’s most popular senior programs, Silver Sneakers.

Yellowstone Association for Natural Science History & Education

Faulkner Family Foundation

The true beauty of Yellowstone is that it offers a different experience for each visitor. From their beginnings as a research library in 1933, the Yellowstone Association has become a pre-eminent steward of the park. Today, the Yellowstone Association, in partnership with the National Park Service, connects people to Yellowstone National Park and the natural world through education. Since 1976, its programs have introduced thousands of students to the park's natural wonders. Programs range from one day to three weeks in length, and highlight the park's amazing wildlife, geothermal areas, rich history and awe-inspiring wilderness.

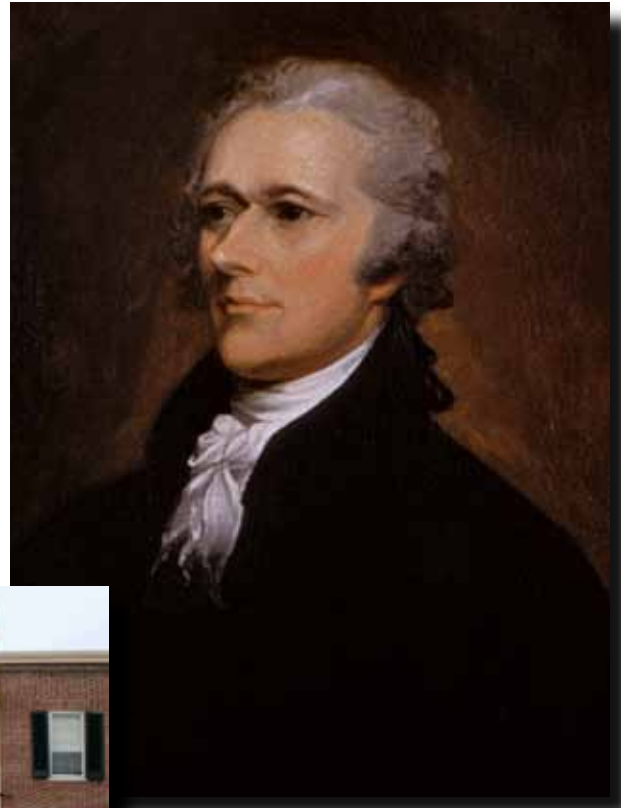

Alexander Hamilton Memorial Free Library

Paul K. and Anna E. Shockey Family Foundation

It is said that when Alexander Hamilton arrived in Waynesboro, he came with nothing but a few belongings in a handkerchief. He had walked from Chester County where he had been a wagon-maker and blacksmith until his home burned in 1817. One of the first things that young Hamilton did was to build a brick house and shop. His work went so well that Hamilton married his neighbor's daughter, Jane Besore, and proceeded to invest in real estate.

The Hamiltons bought the colonial home in 1841 that now serves as the Alexander Hamilton Memorial Free Library. The house, before it was remodeled for a library, had 16 rooms. The Hamiltons had a total of 12 children, of whom nine survived. Of interest is the fact that their son John, who was a farmer, also painted portraits. The ones he did of his parents still hang in the library.

In continuing with their generosity and dedication to the preservation of historical locations, the Paul K. and Anna E. Shockey Family Foundation donated to the Alexander Hamilton Memorial Free Library in 2014. They also gave generously to the Hagerstown Aviation Museum, the Renfrew Museum and Park, the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, the Friends of the Monterey Pass Battlefield, and PA Museums.

The Mattress Factory

Deborah L. Flaherty Foundation

In 2014, The Mattress Factory received a generous donation from the Deborah L. Flaherty Foundation. The Mattress Factory was founded in 1977, to support artists working in residence to create site-specific installations. Since then, the museum has presented and commissioned new installation and performance works by more than 650 artists. The museum supports established and emerging artists through a residency program that provides leadership, guidance, resources and opportunities to create artwork that is unconventional, challenging and thought-provoking. The museum's flexibility and inventiveness allows artists to respond to developments in technology, explore audience interaction, and challenge traditional artistic ideals and practice.

PAA Scholarships

PAA Fund

In 2014, PAA awarded $195,000 to sixteen students. Nine students were chosen to receive the scholarships in honor of their demonstrated charitable characteristics and their work to make a positive impact in their communities. Seven students were selected who are currently enrolled in, or are seeking enrollment in, an automotive technology program, and who are sponsored by a new car or truck dealer.

Golf Tournament

On Wednesday, May 28, 2014, PAA hosted the second annual PAA Golf Tournament and Online Auction to support PAA Scholarships. The tournament was held at the Hershey Country Club West Course followed by a silent auction, cocktail reception, and dinner.

Thanks to the large number of participants, generous industry sponsors, and sunny weather, the event was a great success, raising more than $48,000.

All of the funds raised from the dealer community, from the golf event, dinner, and auction go directly to scholarship recipients.

2014 Scholarship Fund Contributors

Dealer assistance is needed to grow the PAA Fund so that students who are the children of new car and truck dealership employees and those who desire to become technicians will continue to be able to apply for PAA Scholarships. Below are the 2014 Scholarship Fund Contributors.
